JUNGLE BY NIGHT'S RECORD BAG

BIRD regularly dives into a musical soul-mate's record bag. This time it's Tienson Smeets, also known as DJ Tien Son, also known as Jungle By Night's percussionist. Tienson and the boys are visiting Rotterdam on Thursday, November 29 with their instant festival hit machine made of afrobeat, funk, jazz, hip hop and everything in between.

Which songs did you play at family parties?

We always had a projector with old black-and-white movies. There was live music, or our downstairs neighbor played records. My favorite was James Brown's "Sex Machine!"

What's the first record you ever bought?

That was Eigen Wereld by Opgezwolle.

What was the first song you could play along to from beginning to end?

That's a song I knew by heart as a kid: "Grootheidswaanin" by Extince. I eventually became a percussionist instead of a rapper, but when this song was released in 2001 I loved to rap along with my older brother's CDs.

What were your rebel anthems? Or, if your teenage years weren't that rebellious, what songs did you listen to when you retreated to your room?

My teenage anthem was "(Rap) Superstar" by Cypress Hill.

MY FAVOURITE WAS JAMES BROWN'S "SEX MACHINE!"

Which artist made you want to become a musician?

Bob Marley. A close friend of my parents' once got a great photo of him. We had a postcard version at our house that I loved to look at. My favorite song of his is "Natural Mystic."

Have you ever gotten goosebumps during a show? If so, when? And during which song?

Goosebumps? Definitely. That was at Mulatu Astatke & The Heliocentrics when they were performing at Patronaat in Haarlem. The song was "An Epic Story."

Last but not least, which song is your guilty pleasure right now?

That's Mario's "Let Me Love You." Just dancing and looking into the mirror sexily, haha.

BIRDSSESSIONS & HOMEGROWN

Update your biological metronome: BIRDsessions will be on Thursdays from now on. And that's the only thing that's changing. BIRDsessions is still the weekly musical melting pot for musicians and music lovers.

Are you a musician? Bring your instrument and share the stage with world-famous musicians, local talent, and everything in between. Love music? Lucky you! You get to enjoy tomorrow's jazz legends today, for free and with easy access to your next beer.

"But, but, what about Wednesdays?" Glad you asked! Wednesday is still the day you can spot the next big thing for free, because that's when our local superstars in the making will be performing during Homegrown. Okay, you're now all caught up. See you Thursday — and Wednesday!

Info:

Homegrown: every Wednesday from 10 p.m.
BIRDsessions: every Thursday from 10 p.m.
